CRITICAL CARE UNIT

When your newborn baby is premature or ill you actually search for the place where the best care can be given to your child. We realise that when your child requires admittance to Critical Care Unit, it really becomes a stressful time for the family. The Critical care unit of the department is a super-specialized facility that is dedicated to neonates and children who needs intensive monitoring & medical care. This facility leverages advanced equipment to assure the safety of your child. The unit is manned around the clock by the skilled nurses, so the entire critical care team responds to any kind of changes efficiently. Sterile, vivid, airy atmosphere with adequate natural sunlight also remarkably helps to increase the recovery rate of the child.

The hospital has one of the best facilities to take care of the newly born child in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU). This unit is studded with cutting-edge facilities like Level 3 Neonatal Intensive care and manned by extensively trained staffs to look after the ill neonates. This unit is designed to look after the babies who need special care due to either pre-mature birth, illness or health problems. Level 3 NICUs provided the highest level of the most acute care. These nurseries are located in a hospital that can provide surgical repair of complex congenital or acquired conditions. Our facilities have a full range of pediatric medical and surgical subspecialties as well as paediatric anesthesiologists on site. The NICU is complemented by a SCBU (Special Care Baby Unit) where relatively well babies are admitted. We also run the Neonatal Treatment Programme by which a transport team comprising a Neonatologist and a NICU registered nurse retrieves a baby born outside and brings him/her to our NICU for immediate care.

Paediatric Intensive Care Units (PICU) is designed to keep a close watch and provide the best of care to the critically ill children. We realise that when your child requires admittance to Paediatric Intensive Care Unit (PICU), it really becomes a stressful time for the family. But, here in Neotia Bhagirathi Woman and Child Care Centre, New Town, the goal is to provide not only the best treatment for your child but also trying to provide that affection and love to your child which he/she needs. No doubt, here you will get the best treatment as the PICU unit will be equipped with Round the clock specialized and trained medical staff, state-of-the-art equipments, technologies and facilities.
